

Giving is good... UBS launched a new book, Revealing Indian Philanthropy, undertaken in partnership with the India Observatory of the London School of Economics, in Singapore on May 9. At the event held at UBS Singapore's office in One Raffles Quay, guest speakers like spiritual leader Dada J.P. Vaswani (centre, being presented with the book by UBS vice-chairman Carlo Grigioni) and management consultant Usha Menon (in white sari) spoke on the importance of philanthropy.

Other speakers included UBS' head of philanthropy and values-based investing in Asia Pacific David Hayward Evans, philanthropy foundation Dasra's co-founder Deval Sanghavi and Tolaram Group's Anusha Aswani.

Indian entrepreneurs and philanthropists like Anand Mahindra, Adi Godrej, Shiv Nadar, Rohini Nilekani, M.V. Subbiah, Rajashree Birla and Maharaja Gaj Singh II of Jodhpur contributed to the book.
